

UNIVERSITY
OF OSLO

Remote Sensing

Monitoring the earth from satellite sensors

We work on developing new image classification methods which combine data from different satellites.

Application examples:

- How does the arctic ice change?
- Predict the snow melt during the melting season.
- Detect illegal oil spills from ships.
- Determine forest health and deforestation.
- Monitor the risk for forest fires and earthquakes.