

PROGRAM PAPER SESSIONS

7th NOLD PhD-course
24. – 28. March 2004

Embeddedness and Migration - Local Dynamics in a Mobile World

Programme paper sessions

The programme for paper sessions states:

- who will be student and lecture discussant on each paper
- who will be chair for each session
- time for each session

Discussants are mainly appointed on the basis of considerations on who are the most qualified or interested student or lecturer for each paper.

The responsibility of the chair: Introduce the contributors, hold the program schedule and chair the session.

Please notice that some participants will make presentations without discussants, and with no paper submitted before the start up of the course.

All participants are expected to read through all papers, and to prepare comments, especially when appointed as discussant. The papers are available at: <http://uit.no/mostccpp/nold-klaksvik>

Guidelines for each presentation and discussions:

- student's presentation of paper: 10 to 15 minutes
- please present the main points of the paper (do not read the paper)
- student and lecture discussant 10 minutes each, including answers
- general discussion approx. 20 minutes

As stated in the program, the duration of each paper session varies. This is outlined according to the type of presentations given and possibilities for adjustments given by the program schedule.

Please notice that changes might occur to this programme.
