Reshaping the University

Responsibility, Indigenous Epistemes, and the Logic of the Gift

In the past few decades, the narrow intellectual foundations of the university have come under serious scrutiny. Previously marginalized groups have called for improved access to the institution and full inclusion in the curriculum. Reshaping the University is a timely, thorough, and original interrogation of academic practices. It moves beyond current analyses of cultural conflicts and discrimination in academic institutions to provide an indigenous postcolonial critique of the modern university.

Rauna Kuokkanen is an associate professor of pedagogy and indigenous studies at Sami University College, Kautokeino, Norway.
