Consequences of not complying with the departure time limit – notification of implementation of a reduction in the basic amount

Pursuant to Section § 41 of the Immigration Act, you are obliged to leave the country voluntarily within the time limit which is set after the final rejection from the Immigration Appeals Board, or rejection from the Norwegian Directorate of Immigration where the Directorate has denied any postponement of the implementation of the decision.

Your application for a residence permit has been rejected and you have not left the country within the time limit. A consequence of not complying with the departure time limit is that you are no longer entitled to financial benefits in the reception centre. The amount you receive will therefore be reduced, in accordance with the Benefit Regulation.

Adults will receive a minimum amount of money to cover expenses for food, which means that only the pocket money benefit is being withdrawn. The amount being withdrawn is NOK 1135.00 per adult per month. The reduction in the basic amount will not apply to persons under 18 years of age, cf. item 7.1 in the Benefit Regulation. If you have any questions on the practice of the Benefit Regulation, please ask the reception centre staff.

The decision on the reduction of the basic amount cannot be appealed.

If you are not in possession of a valid travel document, you have a duty to obtain such a document, cf. Section 41 of the Immigration Act. If you have any problems obtaining travel documents, you must contact the police.

Yours sincerely
for the Norwegian Directorate of Immigration
