

HØGSKOLEN
I SØR-TRØNDELAG

HØGSKOLEN I SØR-TRØNDELAG

AVDELING FOR MAT- OG MEDISINSK TEKNOLOGI

Kandidatnr:
Eksamensdato:	26.05.95
Varighet:	5 timer
Fagnummer:	FO070N
Fagnavn:	TK engelsk
Klasse(r):
Studiepoeng:
Faglærer(e):	Sunniva Saksvik
Hjelpemidler:	Alle trykte bøker, med egne notater. Ordbøker. Ressurshefte med egne notater. Det er IKKE anledning til å bruke løse ark, håndskrevne eller trykte.
Oppgavesettet består av:	2 sider + forside + vedlegg
Vedlegg består av:	Oppgave 1 C
Merknad: De som velger oppgave 1 C skal rive arket av oppgavesettet og levere sammen med besvarelsen.
Lykke til!

Answer part 1 plus part 2

Part 1: Translation/comprehension/proof-reading.

Answer one of the following three assignments, A, B & C:

A. Translate the following extract into Norwegian:

Eat breakfast

Skipping breakfast may have a detrimental effect on performance. When the exam results of 500 schoolchildren were analysed at the University of Israel, it was found that those who had eaten a bowl of cereal on the morning of the exam had better results than those who ate nothing. A more substantial breakfast of grilled bacon and eggs seemed to have an even more positive effect.

Elsewhere, students have been found to perform better in exams when they start the day with beans on toast. Barbara Stewart, a nutritionist at the University of Ulster, conducted research that suggested that those who ate just toast had lower exam scores than pupils who topped their toast with baked beans.

<http://www.telegraph.co.uk/health> (02.05.05)

B. Answer these questions from the text ‘Canning’ on pages 2-3 in your leaflet. Be brief, but thorough. Make sure to use full sentences.

1. What contains more nutrients, fresh food or canned food?
2. How come canned food lasts longer?
3. Why should you choose food canned in water rather than in syrup or brine?
4. What makes canned food convenient?
5. Name one example of how the bioavailability of nutrients can be increased by the process of canning.
6. Why are nutrients so well contained in canned food?
7. Translate the following terms into Norwegian:
 - Brine
 - Pulses
 - De-boned
 - RDA

C. The text “Pushed Too Far”, at the back of this assignment set, contains a lot of spelling-errors. Identify the errors, and correct them. Do remember to hand in the corrected text!

Part 2: Essay.

Choose one of the following questions:

A. Cosmetic surgery.

Read the texts “In Brazil, Beauty is Never Enough” on page 4, “A Stitch in time” on page 5, “Cosmetic fillers” on page 6 and “Family that Nips and Tucks Together” on page seven. What is your opinion on cosmetic surgery? Discuss whether or not you would consider getting cosmetic surgery yourself, and how you would you feel if your partner’s good looks were the result of the surgeon’s knife. Do you think medical resources should be used on cosmetic surgery?

B. Jamie Oliver’s school dinners.

Read the texts “The TV-Chef Battles Junk Food in British Schools” on pages 8-10, and “School meals ‘must be made free’” on pages 11-12. You may also have watched the show on Norwegian television. What are your thoughts on Oliver’s campaign? Then discuss whether you think school dinners should be introduced in Norwegian schools, explaining why/why not.

C. The ban on smoking.

Read the text “Norway gets tough on smoking” on pages 13-14. Write an essay in which you state your opinion on the Norwegian ban on smoking in restaurants, bars or cafes.

D. Electronic theft.

Read the text “Robin Hood on the internet” on pages 15-17. Write an essay in which you discuss whether a computer hacker cracking codes on DVDs and downloading or copying files or programs from the net for his or her own benefit should be considered a thief. You may also want to discuss the Norwegian laws on copying mp3-files or Norwegian “DVD-John”. Is copyright on the net a lost cause? Is it even desirable?

E. My passion.

Write an essay about something in your life for which you have a passion; a hobby, a political cause, a place or a person, or other, explaining the reasons for your passion and how it affects your life.

Good luck!

Part 1, C: Pushed Too Far

James Booth were a man on the end off his tether - life had dealt him to many raw deals. Until one faithfull day when he decided that enoug was enoug and he was'nt going to take this kind of treatment nomore. The straw who broke the Camels back were an particularly bad week in court. One monday after noon, Mr Booth was inform that he must sell his' lakesidehouse and split the profit's with his' wife, that had left him to a neighbour witout so much as saying Goodbye. Two days after, while still contemplated the courtorder compelling him to sell, was he informed farther that his beloved motor launch was to be confiscated in the event of his failing to putt the house on the marked in the end off the Week. Mr Booth was walking out of the court, hired the largest truck he could find. And proceeded to driving at high speed in the direction of his house, pausing only to shift up a geer before jumped out of the vehicle as it ploughed trough the buildingfront, damaging it beyond repair. Then went he to his motor launch, and set in motion a enactment of an Vikingburial. The police arrived just as the fuel tank caught fire and blow the boat into an thousand pices.

(Modified from The Best But Bizarre True Stories Ever, Carlton Books, 1998)