1801 Allen Parkway, Houston, TX 77019

Overview: This all-day Forum will introduce the procurement opportunities and leading-edge technologies present in the Norwegian Continental Shelf and the Gulf of Mexico. Norwegian officials will outline their plans for expanding exploration and production in their sector, while the U.S. Minerals Management Service will show the advances being made into the deeper Gulf of Mexico. Statoil and Chevron will share the experience and success of their Joint Technology Team in both areas, where the most promising offshore developments are taking place. After lunch representatives of the major offshore companies, including Aker Kvaerner, Hydro, Marathon, Smith Technologies and more will brief the audience on their operations and procurement, and will be available for one-on-one meetings with American and Norwegian companies. A reception hosted by Stavanger's Offshore Northern Seas show will conclude the day honoring the Norwegian delegates at the Offshore Technology Conference.
